

Eid al-Fitr

The Eid prayer

The Eid prayer is a collective duty, which means that when some Muslims offer it, the rest are not accountable for their omission.

If no one offers it, then all share in the sin. This is because it is one of the clearest manifestations of the Islamic identity of the community.

Moreover, the Prophet (peace be upon him) always did it, as did his Companions after he had passed away.

The Eid prayer

It is recommended to offer the Eid prayer in an open space away from residential buildings. Apparently this he did in order to publicize this Islamic tradition. It is permissible to offer it in a large mosque when there is need for that, such as rain, strong winds or other severe weather conditions.

The Eid prayer

The Eid prayer becomes due at the time when the Sunnah prayer known as Duha is due, which means it starts when the sun has risen in the sky about one spear's length. This is when the Prophet (peace be upon him) and his successors used to offer it, and prior to the sun being at that height, prayer is discouraged.

The Eid prayer

It is recommended to start the Eid al-Adha prayer at the beginning of its time range and to delay the Eid al-Fitr prayer because the Prophet (peace be upon him) did that. People need to attend to their sacrifice after the prayer at Eid al-Adha, while the delay in Eid al-Fitr prayer helps a person who has not yet paid Zakat al-Fitr to pay it, as it must be paid up to immediately before the prayer.

The Eid prayer

Description of Eid prayer: The Eid prayer consists of two rak'ahs, similar to the Friday prayer, In the first rak'ah and after the Takbeer (glorification), Allah-u akbar, and the opening supplication, the same after that, al-Fatiha and another surah are recited glorification of takbeer is repeated seven more times, after that, al-Fatiha and another surah are recited . In the second rak'ah the same takbeer is repeated five times, other than the takbeer for standing up from sujood before reciting al-Fatihah. This is based on the hadith.

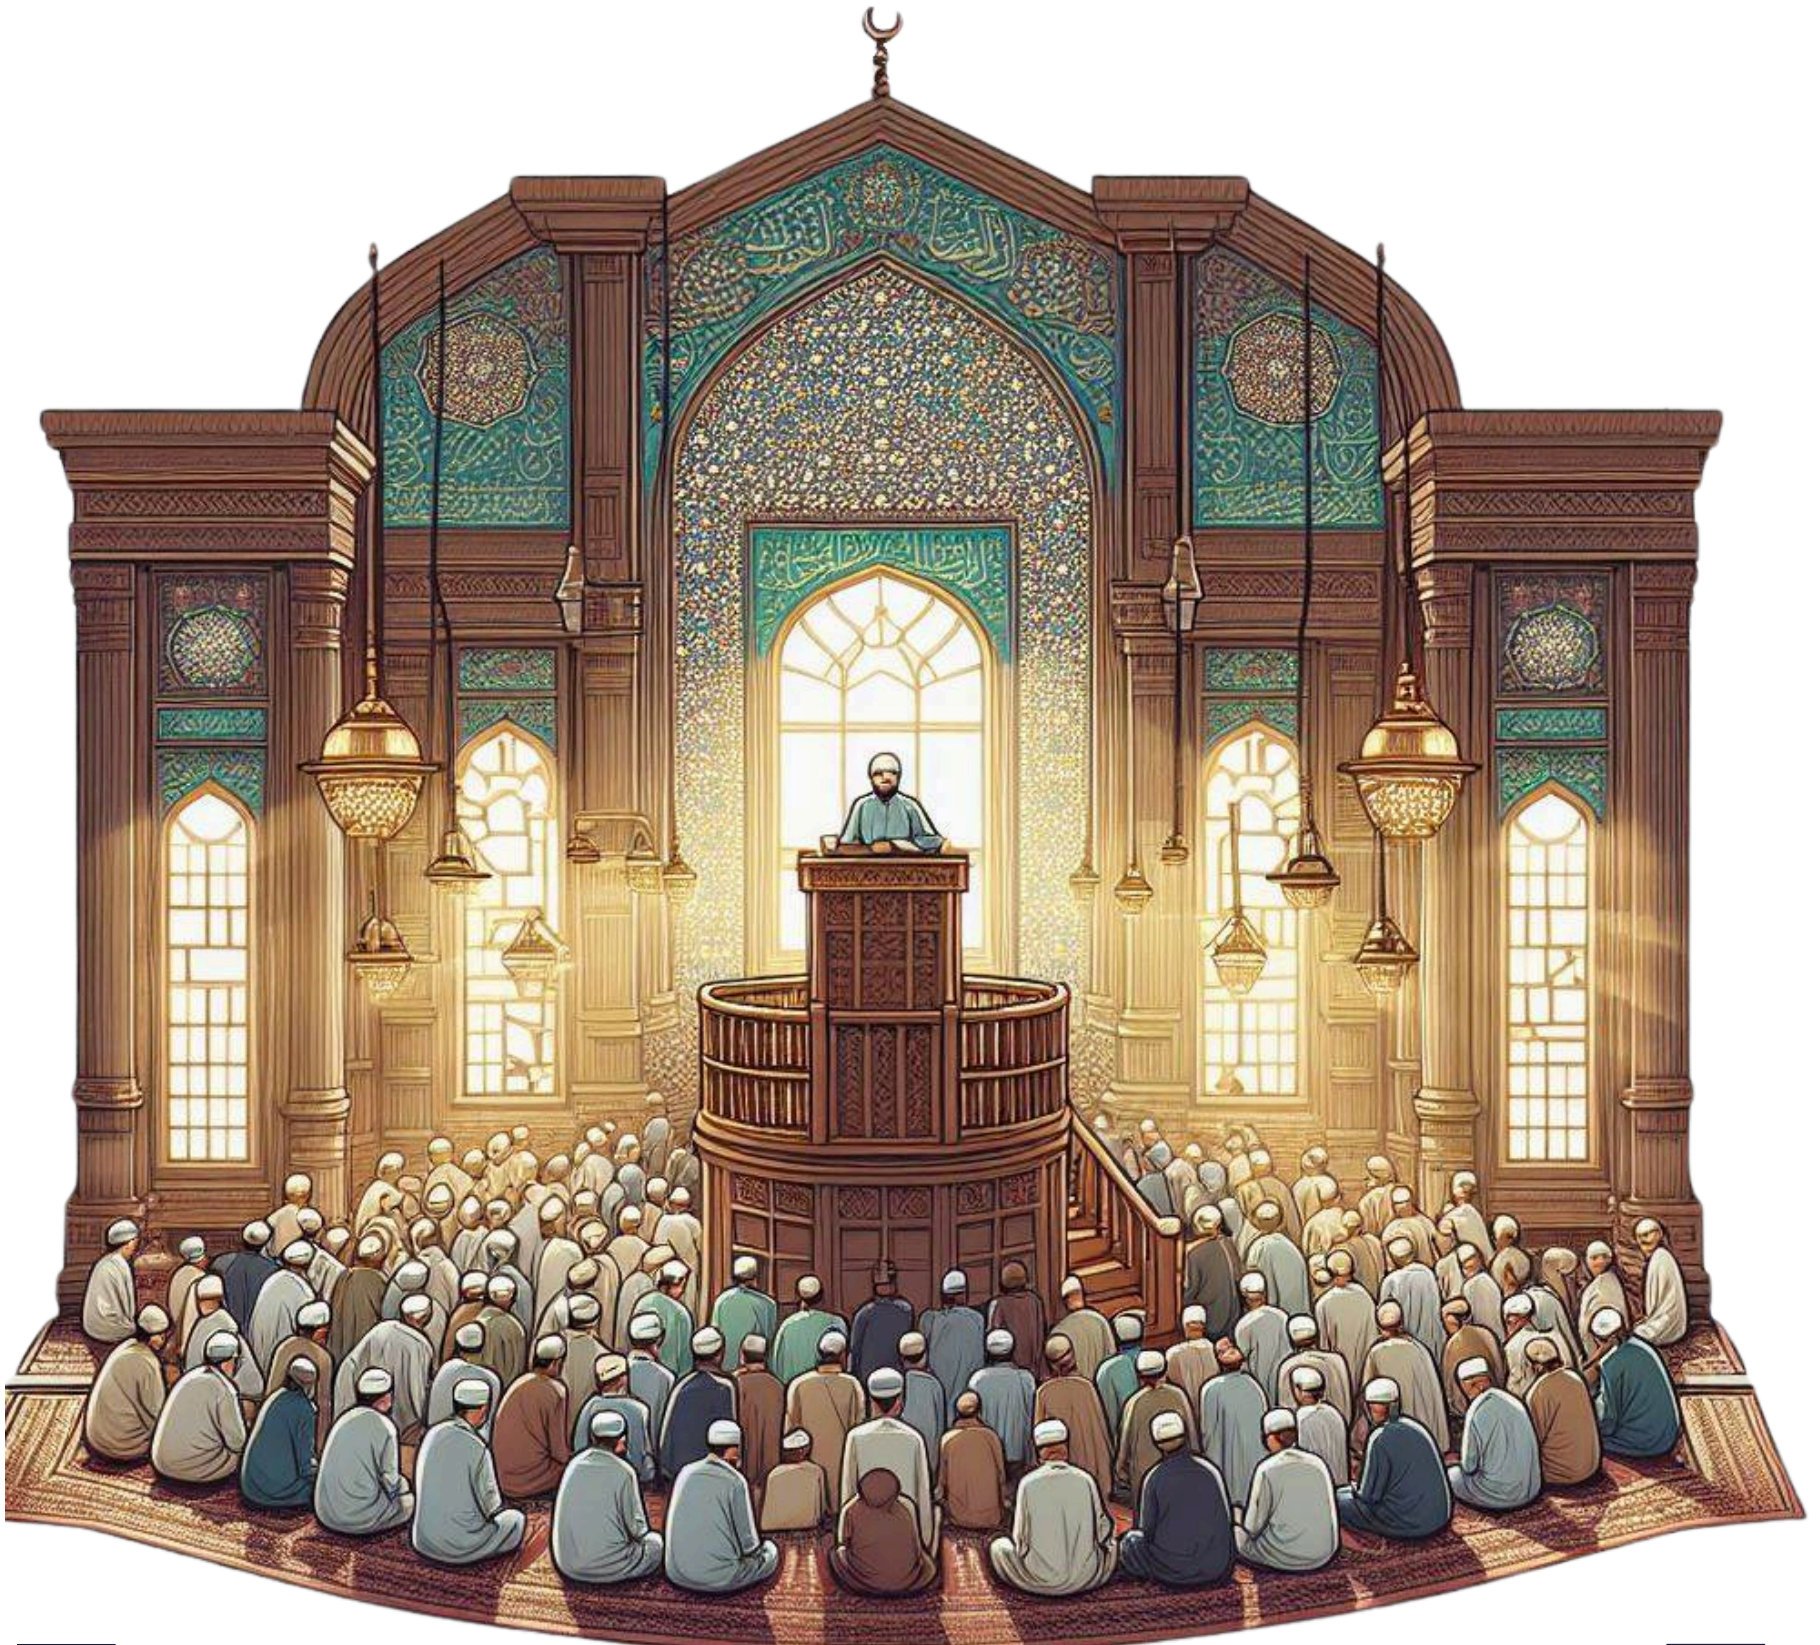

The Eid prayer

Then the imam says silently a'udhu billahi min al-Shaytan al-Rajim (i.e. 'I seek shelter with Allah against Satan, the accursed.')* He then recites the Qur'an aloud, reciting after al-Fatihah Surah Al Al'ala (87) in the first rak'ah and Surah Al Ghashia (88) in the second, as it is reported by Jabir ibn Samurah that the Prophet (peace be upon him) did that.

The Eid prayer

Khutbah Unlike the Friday prayer, the khutbah in the Eid prayer is given after the prayer.

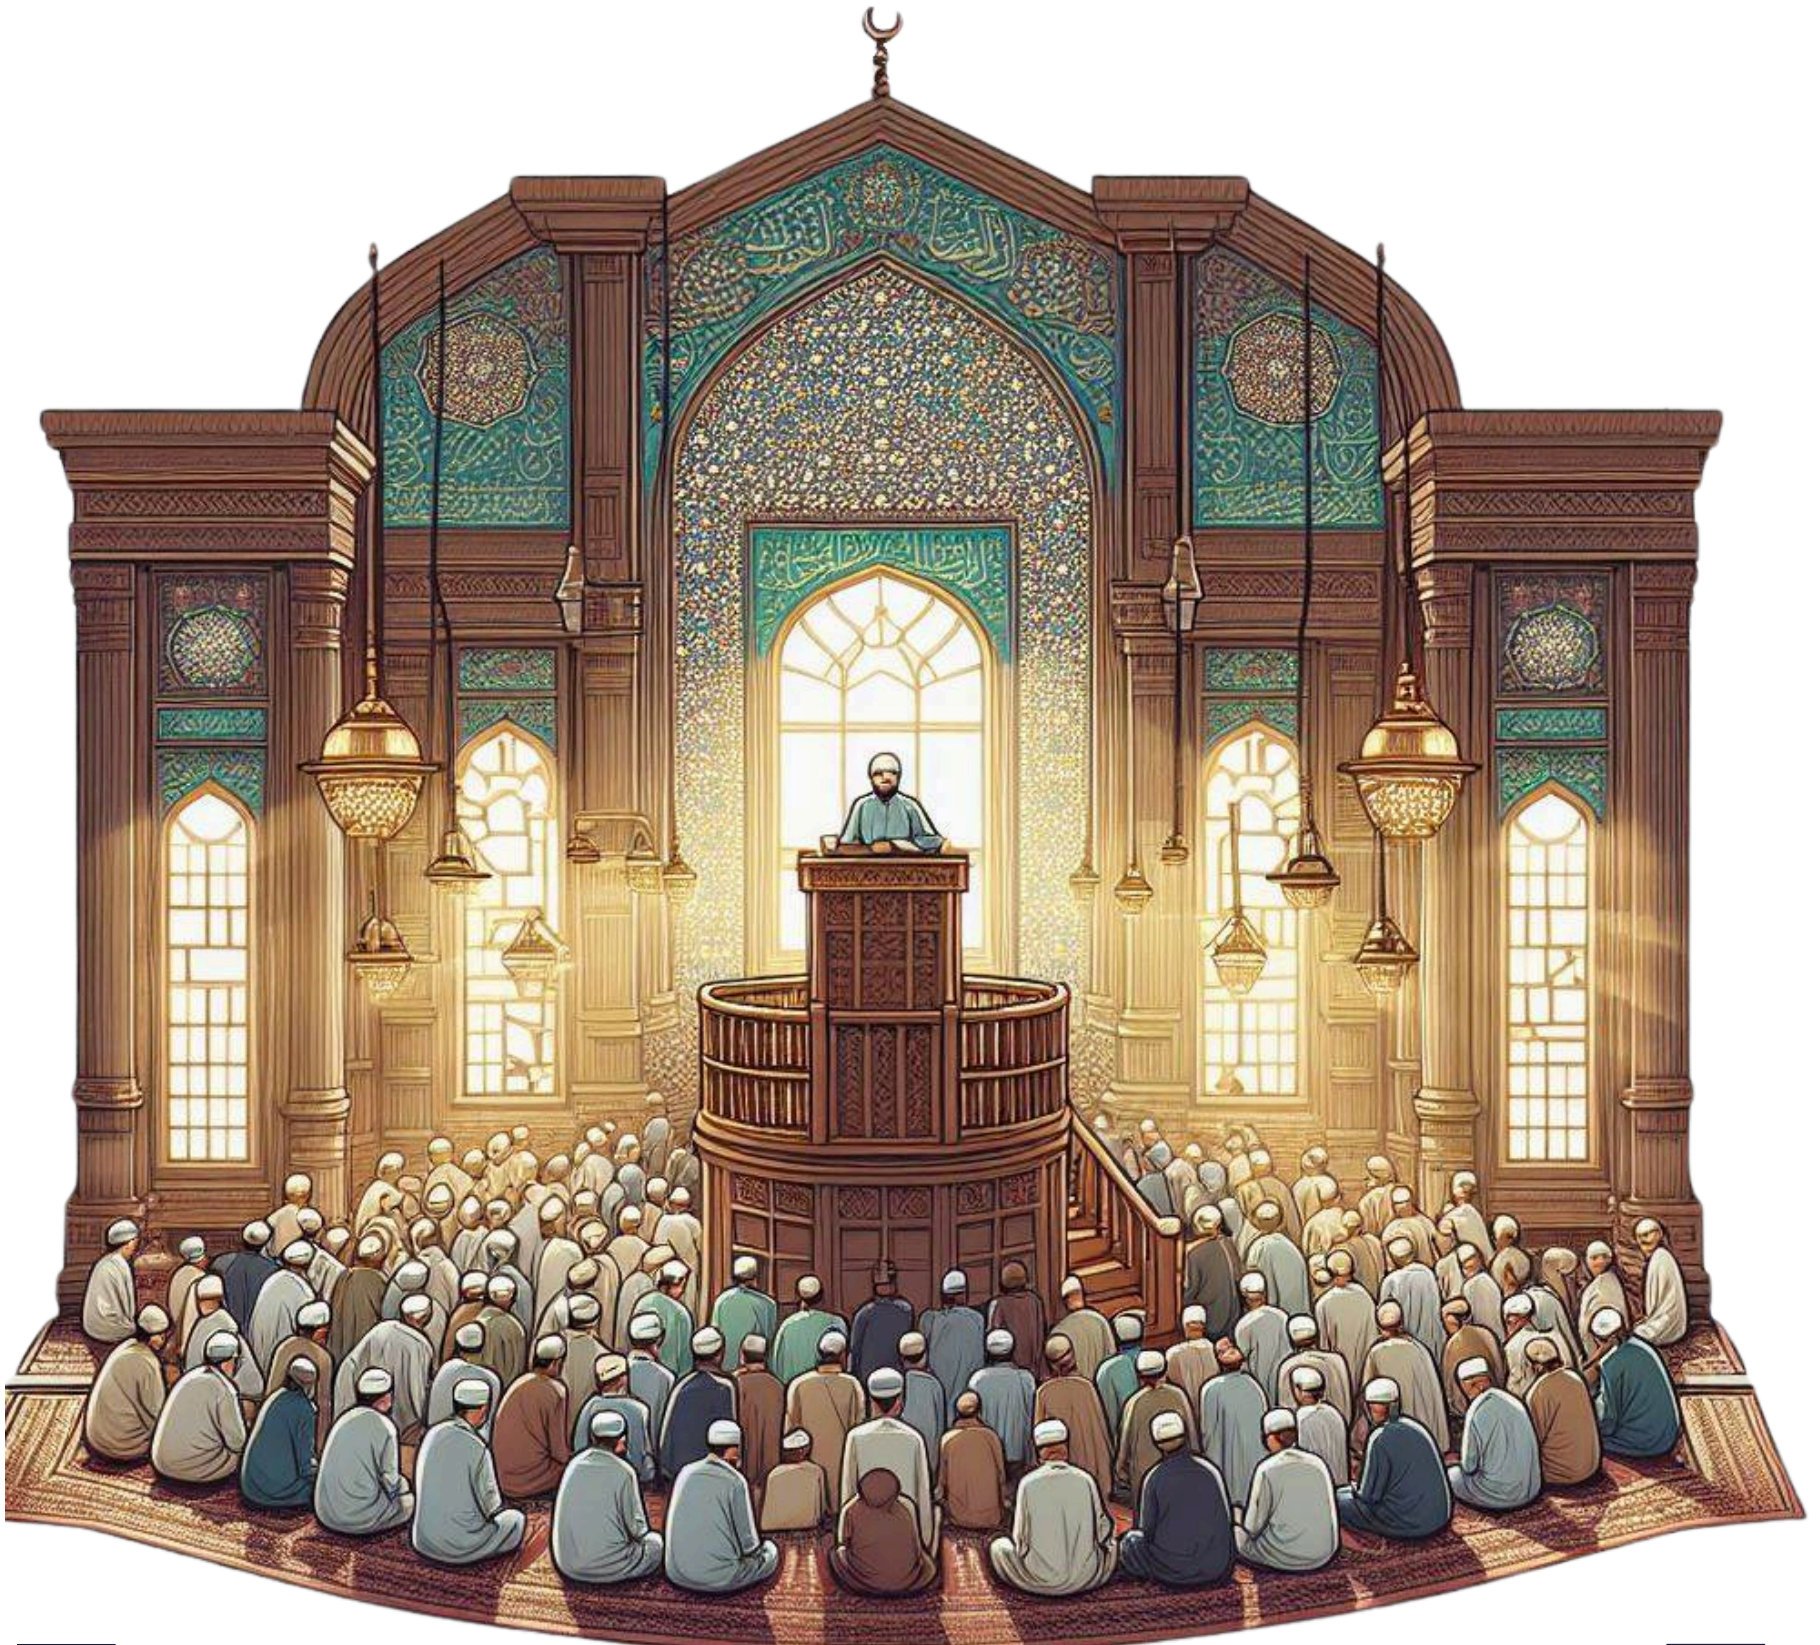

Celebrate the spirit of Eid!

Eid al-Fitr marks the end of Ramadan fasting, while Eid al-Adha follows the first 10 days of Dhul-Hijjah. A time of joy and reflection for Muslims worldwide.

Start your Eid with the beauty of prayer

The Eid prayer, consisting of two rakaa and a sermon, is a cherished act that reinforces Islamic values.

The Eid prayer is a collective duty

The Eid prayer is a collective duty, a powerful display of Islamic identity. When some perform it, others are excused, but if none do, all share the sin.

Eid Gathering

Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) emphasized the importance of Eid prayers, urging even menstruating women to attend for blessings and community joy

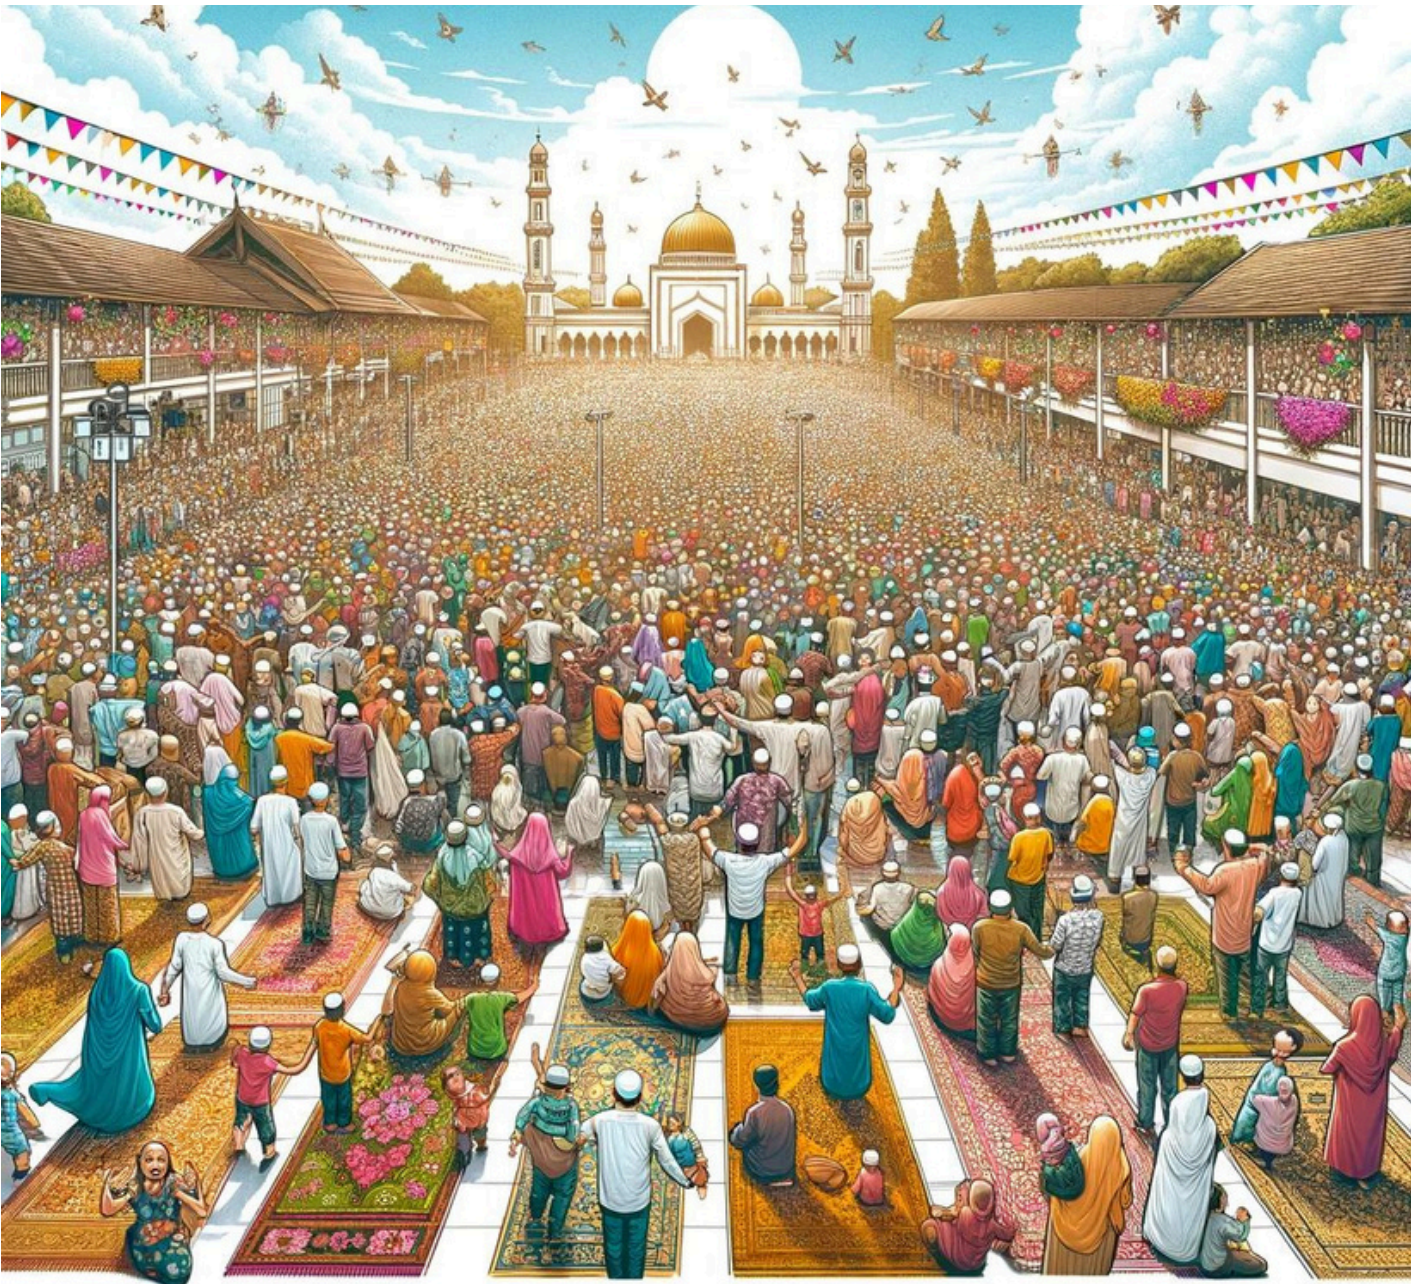

Islamic Scholars

Scholars debate: Is Eid prayer obligatory for all men? Some say yes, others call it a confirmed Sunnah. What's clear is its significance.

Eid Rules

To hold a valid Eid prayer, it must be in its time, with at least three people, and not during travel. These conditions ensure its proper observance.

Eid Tradition

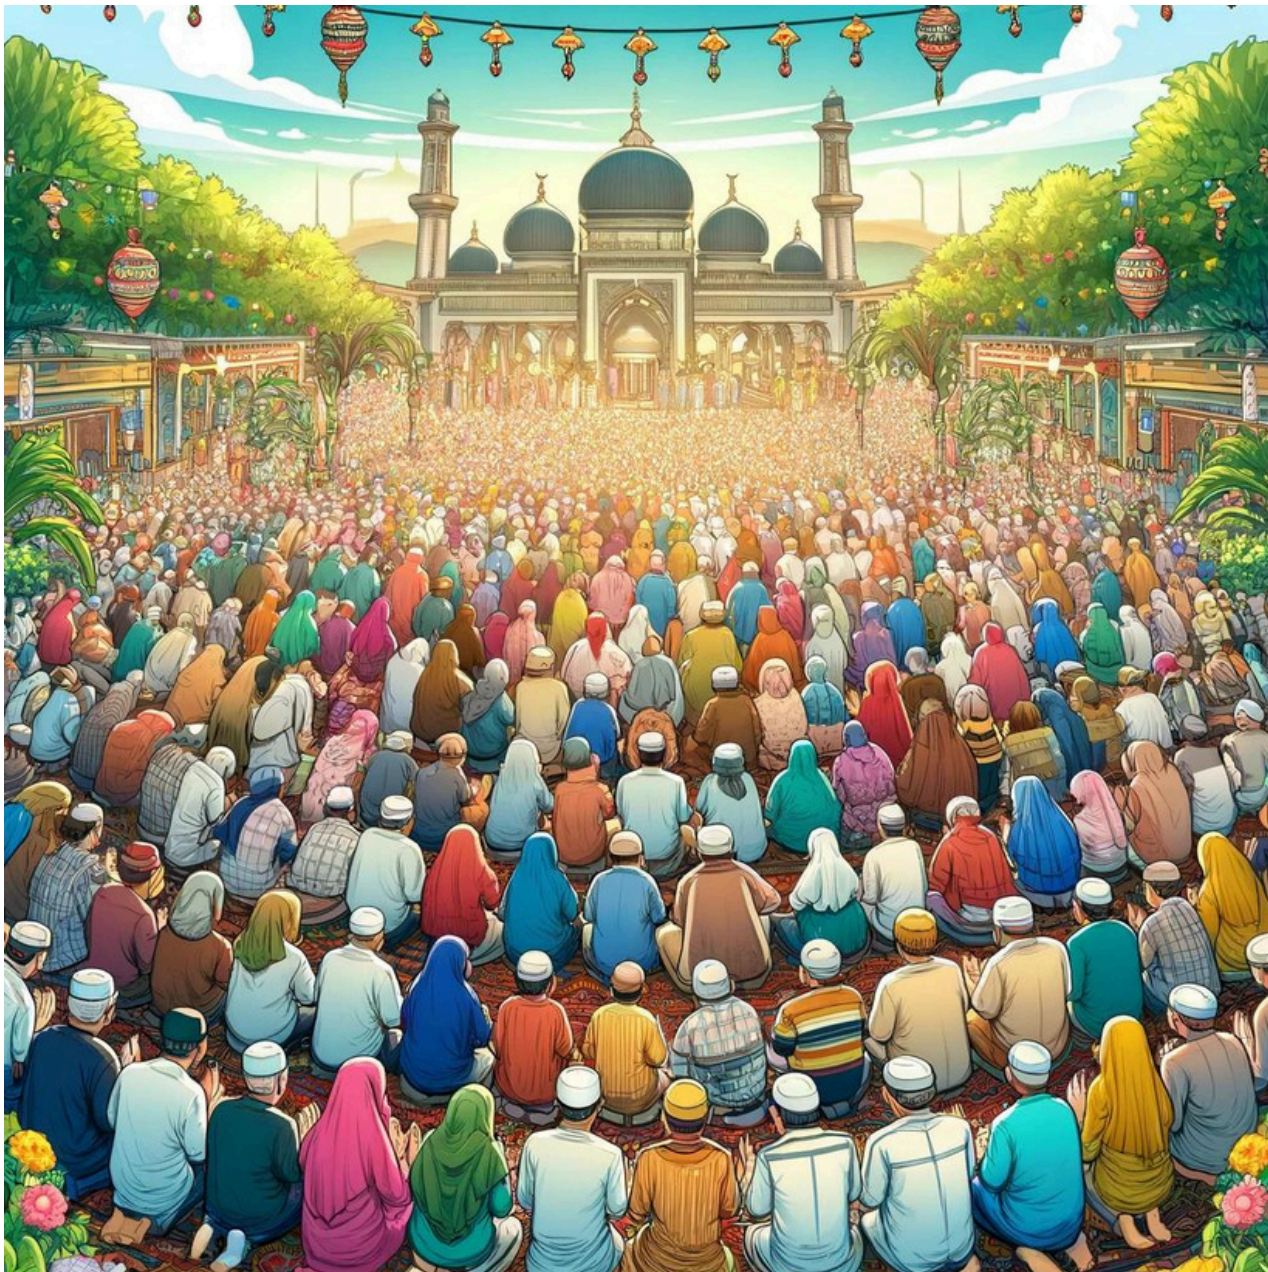

Preferably, perform Eid prayers in open spaces, just as the Prophet (PBUH) did, to publicly celebrate this Islamic tradition

Muslim Unity

When weather challenges arise, it's permissible to pray Eid in a large mosque. Flexibility ensures everyone can participate.

Eid Timing

The timing of Eid prayers is crucial. They must be offered after the time has begun, reflecting the discipline and order of Islamic practices.
